"All the world's a circus show,
At least so it seems to me,
And the grown-up folks
Are the living jokes,
As funny as a circus show."

Senator Simmons can't tell Senator Reed Smooth anything about prosperity—he invented it.

Nova Pictoris, the new star discovered in 1925, turns out to be a companion planet, and gets a divorce, and it is understood the State Department is thinking of sending Lindy up to investigate on a good-will flight.

We can not approve of the senatorial demand that the Marines be withdrawn from Nicaragua and sent to Chicago. In our judgment the Marines should never be ordered to the State street front without being reinforced by two divisions of infantry and the necessary artillery and aircraft. Let there be no unnecessary sacrifice of human life!

Senator Tom Heflin, who is no slouch of a demagogue himself, calls for a presidential candidate to run on the issue of getting the Marines out of the banana trees by Christmas. Outside the fact that he never learned to run Gen. Smelly Butler would probably be acceptable to the rest of the Antislavery League.

Mexicans kill one candidate and hang his war heeler. There is more than one way of conducting a preferential presidential primary.

It begins to look as though in the end the coal problem would be solved as in the past by letting the ultimate consumer arbitrate it with his checkbook.

The German fliers will hop off from Dublin pretty soon and it is a happy thought that America will welcome them with a reception committee and a brass band instead of an anti-aircraft gun and an ambulance.

Ambassador Morrow scores a diplomatic triumph in securing an equitable and friendly settlement of the Mexican problem affecting American titles in lands and oil concessions, but you can never convince the man in the street looking up that the trick never turned 'ry Lindbergh and Will Rogers.

Speaking of the unemployment situation, it is remarkable what a lot of idle time our gassy Senators are now finding on their hands.

Special prohibition squads will be sent to Kansas City and Houston to compel the public men and government officials who will select the next President of the United States to obey the law of the land.

The world's largest dam, across the Wall street canyon, goes out with a large crash.

A late frost nips the shorn lambs.

Secretary Hoover gets an honorary degree from Johns Hopkins students.

The House sees John Bull's proposal for naval disarmament and raises him $359,000,000.

Baby girl born in Kentucky has nine living grandparents, but she won't begin appreciating them until Christmas.

That new comet headed South that has been picked up by the Giacobini telescope at Nice is probably nothing more astronomical than Jim Reed blowing into Raleigh, and if it had been a star of the first magnitude we'd have been sure of it.

Archbishop Gauthier says that a woman makes her decisions more quickly than a man. Especially when it's "no!"

Senator Joe Robinson's attack on Secretary Hoover's farm policy is doubtless just his way of pretending that he knows what it is.

Here's a gigantic new New York bank with a capital of $62,000,000. That's more than there is in Borah's.

It is reported that Senator Nye's apology to Gov. Smith of New York was dispatched to Albany by a trusted messenger and six policemen at an early hour this morning wrapped in tissue paper tied with baby blue ribbon.

Tom Blanton is wasting his time running for the Senate—he ought to be the Supreme Court, the Attorney General and the United States District Attorney, and make coolidgeism look like a Miami real estate boom.

Speaking of Mr. Coolidge's economy, we note that Congress isn't any more.

The dry sleuths who are going to take all the joy out of nominating a President promise not to violate any man's domicile, but how about the delegate who is "living in a suitcase?"

POLICEMAN STAPLES
ACCUSED BY WOMAN
BEFORE TRIAL BOARD

Mrs. Marie Waters Says She Was "Mistreated" and "Insulted."

TESTIMONY DRIVES
WOMEN FROM ROOM

Blanton Links Lieut. McQuade With Affidavit Made by Star Witness.

Bitterness and levity in almost equal portions marked yesterday's session of the Police Trial Board which is trying Policeman Orville Staples, of the Third Precinct, on serious charges. Most of the bitterness, and all of the levity came from Representative Thomas L. Blanton, of Texas, counsel for the accused policeman, who, while he caused the board to cast aside much of its regular procedure, made several telling shots in defense of his client.

Blanton's principal successes of the day came when he confused Mrs. Marie Waters, "star witness" for the prosecution, who in an affidavit and in her testimony, accused Staples of "insulting" and "mistreating her," and in turning Capt. Ira Sheetz, of the Third Precinct, into a defense witness who lauded Staples' record.

Mrs. Waters' testimony as to Staples' conduct in an apartment at 2222 N street northwest on February 28, 1928, was taken until the crowded room in which the hearings are being conducted had been cleared of women. Assistant Corporation Counsel William H. Wanley, chairman of the board, suggested that all of the women leave because Mrs. Waters' testimony might prove "embarrassing."

Witness Slow in Answering.
On cross-examination Blanton accused Mrs. Waters of having a disposition to forget and of seeking inspiration for her answers from Assistant Corporation Counsel Robert L. Williams, the prosecutor.

Once Mrs. Waters hesitated for more than five minutes before answering one of Blanton's questions. When Mrs. Waters mumbled her reply Blanton thundered at her:

"You're all mixed up, aren't you?"

"I've never been in court before," said Mrs. Waters.

Jumping to his feet and shaking his finger at Mrs. Waters, Blanton shouted:

"A little girl 6 years old who told the truth couldn't be mixed up by the best lawyer in the world—now why don't you tell the truth?"

Mr. Blanton was trying to get Mrs. Waters to admit that Policeman Frederick Schenck and Joseph Hunt, of the Third Precinct, whom Blanton accused of "framing" Staples, were present when Mrs. Waters made the affidavit charging Staples with misconduct.

Lieut. McQuade is Mentioned.

After Chairman Wahly ordered Mrs. Waters to answer the question, Mrs. Waters bowed her head and admitted that Schenck, Hunt and Lieut. James McQuade were present.

At the mention of McQuade's name Blanton jumped to his feet and shouted:

"McQuade, McQuade! he's the brother of the grand jury foreman I've been after for some time about certain transactions."

Blanton and Williams became involved in a heated argument when Williams attempted to amend the charges against Staples. The charge in

3 AMERICANS KILLED
FLYING OVER MEXICO

Plane Crashes Into Street at Toluca; Trip Made as Pleasure Jaunt.

Mexico City, March 27 (A.P.).—Three Americans were killed today when a plane in which they were flying from Nogales, Ariz., to Mexico City crashed in the streets of Toluca, only about 45 miles from their objective. The victims were Sterling Rohfs, pilot; William E. King and Wallace Springer.

Word of the tragedy came to Alexander W. Weddell, United States Consul General, from Riva Palacio, governor of Toluca. The governor said that Rohfs and Springer were killed instantly, and that King survived less than an hour after he had been taken to Douglas, Ariz., March 27 (A.P.).—Sterling Rohfs, wealthy New Mexican cattleman, piloting his monoplane, and accompanied by Wallace Springer, a cattleman from Cimarron, N. Mex., and W. E. King, attorney, of Douglas and Mexico City, left here March 22 by way of Nogales for Mexico City. King said the trip was merely a pleasure jaunt.

Former Empress Zita Undergoes Operation

Vienna, March 27 (A.P.).—Advice was received here tonight from San Sebastian, Spain, that Zita, former Empress of Austria-Hungary, underwent a successful operation today.

News of her illness had aroused interest among Hungarian royalists, who looked to Zita's eldest son, "King" Otto, as their next ruler.

House Passes Navy Bill
With $359,000,000 Total

Current Appropriation Exceeded by $20,384,000—LaGuardia Asks Recall of Marines From Nicaragua. Wilbur Calls for New Bids on Dirigibles.

(Associated Press.)
Without a record vote, the House yesterday passed the largest annual supply bill for the Navy Department since the Washington naval limitations conference. The measure, which now goes to the Senate, totals $359,000,000, or $20,384,000 more than the current appropriation.

The bill's consideration was marked with a demand by Representative LaGuardia, a New York Republican, for immediate withdrawal of American Marines from Nicaragua, and also by a protracted discussion over the letting of contracts for two dirigibles authorized by Congress several years ago.

Simultaneously with discussion in the House, Secretary Wilbur announced at the Navy Department that new bids would be requested on the air liners. This was explained at the Capitol as necessary to receive formally an anticipated bid from the Goodyear Co., of Akron, Ohio, for the two ships and another from the American Brown Boveri Co., of Camden, N. J., for one.

Both the prospective contractors were discussed at length in the House debate and the Secretary's announcement that bids again should be asked came simultaneously with an unsuccessful effort by Representative Begg, an Ohio Republican, to amend the bill to direct the Secretary to ask at once for bids. Begg's proposal was rejected 78 to 23.

The history of the proposed dirigibles began immediately after the wreck of the Shenandoah. Both were authorized and last year Congress appropriated $200,000 to start one.

The Goodyear Co. submitted a cost-plus contract which the Navy did not accept, and Naval officers this year asked Congress to provide funds to start both, explaining that if this were done the Goodyear Co. had expressed willingness to bid on both at a cost of $8,000,000, including a hangar.

At the same time Congress was advised it would cost $5,500,000 to build one.

The bill provides $2,000,000 to start both ships, but it is optional with the Navy Department whether one firm builds both except that the total cost of the two must come within the $6,000,000 limit of cost fixed by Congress at the time the air liners were authorized.

It also was said at the Capitol that even the New Jersey concern had not indicated that it desired to bid, that the department nevertheless would have been compelled to call for bids in

PRICES OF STOCKS CRASH,
THEN RALLY VIOLENTLY

Radio, New York Central, Rock Island and Others Reach New Highs.

4,762,400 SHARES SOLD

New York, March 27 (A.P.).—The speculative sky-rocket, created by three weeks of almost steadily rising prices on the New York Exchange, was rocked to its foundations today by the temporary collapse of its leading pillars, but new support, were quickly erected, and a few towers built up to new record heights before the day was over.

The day's trading set another new high record at 4,762,400 shares as contrasted with the previous peak of 4,176,300 shares established yesterday.

Wall street has never experienced such a day of violent and bewildering price movements. Prices crashed 50 to nearly 200 a share in the first half hour of trading, but the low prices had not appeared on the tape before a general rally was under way which cut down or wiped out most of the early losses and sent a few issues soaring to new high levels.

The break came without an instant's warning. In the first two dozen quotations appearing on the tape were several blocks of 5,000 to 15,000 shares of the so-called Independent Motor stocks, with Chrysler, Packard and Studebaker mounting to new high levels on initial sales. This brought a flurry of buying into other stocks, but the eyes of big traders were glued on the General Motors stock, which held the spotlight for the last week or more.

It was quickly apparent that a storm was brewing as the shouted offerings of the stock drowned out the spoken bids. Finally, ten minutes after the opening gong had sounded, the initial transaction had been agreed upon, and appeared on the tape as a block of 5,000 shares at the spread price of $138 to $139 a share, as contrasted with the record high of $139, established yesterday.

Before market sponsors for the issue could rally their forces the stock had plunged from $138 a share to $180, dropping from $185 to $180 between sales. Nimble floor traders, taking advantage of the unusual situation, bought heavily around the low level.

Lansing, Mich., March 27 (A.P.).—Fred Palm, of Lansing, sent to prison for life under Michigan's new criminal code for possessing a pint of gin, today was granted a writ of error by the State supreme court, permitting an appeal from the sentence.

The writ was in response to a letter written by Palm while he was in prison. He has no legal counsel. He was given a life sentence under a provision of the code which makes a fourth conviction on a felony charge punishable by life imprisonment.

All Allegheny Data
In Vase Case Sought

Pittsburgh, March 27 (A.P.).—A subpoena for every paper and record bearing on the Vane-Wilson senatorial election in Allegheny County, was presented to the county commissioners here today by John J. McGrain, deputy sergeant at arms of the United States Senate. The records, asked for by the Senate committee investigating the election, will be assembled by tomorrow and turned over to McGrain, the commissioners said. Previously all Allegheny County ballot boxes were sent to Washington.

Today's subpoena called for ballot printing bids, records showing the number of ballots printed and issued and the disposal of unused ballots.

POLITICS CHARGED
IN SENATE DEBATE ON UNEMPLOYMENT

5,000,000 Workers Idle, Simmons Declares in Attack on Survey.

FINDINGS OF DAVIS
DEFENDED BY SMOOT

Republican Leader Declares America Outstrips World in Prosperity Race.

(Associated Press.)
Secretary of Labor Davis' unemployment report was pounced upon by Democrats in the Senate yesterday as political handiwork designed to bolster up the Republicans' prosperity slogan. The Secretary placed the number of unemployed at 1,200,000.

Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, saying there were 75,000 persons out of employment in his State, indicated that there are between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 unemployed in the country as a whole.

"It is the purpose of the administration to make prosperity the slogan of the campaign," he declared. "These agents of the department get busy to answer the arguments that the country is not prosperous." They had not had time to make a complete, impartial report, he declared.

Smoot Analyzes Report.

It was Senator Smoot, of Utah, who precipitated the row. He undertook to analyze the Labor Secretary's report and observed that conditions were not as bad as had been pictured. Not only was the number of unemployed lower than previous estimates, he said, but the Secretary's report showed that most of the unemployment was among unskilled labor, and it is much easier to fit them into emergency jobs, such as vast construction programs in the Nation, State and city, and which he said were rapidly getting under way.

"Most encouraging of all," he added, "is the attitude of the public. In former times we tended to allow unemployment to reach serious proportions before it was noticed at all. Few serious, deliberate and practical efforts were made to relieve it and these were generally too late to accomplish any good. Now we are alert to discover it and prompt to act."

It was Senator Simmons' thought that the only alertness that had been shown was the Labor Department's coming to the rescue of the Republican party.

New Machinery Blamed.

The Utah senator agreed with Secretary Davis that much of the unemployment was due to the new machinery coming.

Dog Chooses to Die
In Fire by Equine Pal

Bremen, Ohio, March 27 (A.P.).—Faithful to the horse at whose heels he ran for years, a Boston bulldog today refused to leave a burning barn in which his "pal" was trapped. Both fell victims of the fire which caused $10,000 damage.

The dog ran from the barn apparently to arouse rescuers, then returned and attempted to tear away the ropes that tied the animal. The bulldog was found dead beside the horse, a victim of the flames.

King of Yugoslavia
Reported Gravely Ill

Vienna, March 27 (A.P.).—The newspaper Magyarorszag says it has learned that King Alexander of Yugoslavia is seriously ill. He is said to be suffering from insomnia and melancholia.

NICARAGUAN CABINET
RESIGNS PORTFOLIOS

Action at President's Request Is to Give Him Free Hand in Election.

Managua, Nicaragua, March 27 (A.P.).—The entire Nicaraguan cabinet resigned today at the request of President Diaz. It is understood that the resignations will be accepted as effective April 1.

Dr. Carlos Pasos, the foreign minister, will become a candidate for the presidential nomination of the conservative party.

Other members of the cabinet were asked to place their resignations at the disposal of the president in order that he might have a free hand in selecting a cabinet which would unanimously support his policy in respect to American supervision of the October elections. Some of the cabinet have been mildly opposing the president's course in this, acting evidently under the influence of Emiliano Chamorro, who is generally credited with having blocked enactment of the McCoy bill.

Countess Is Robbed
Of $600,000 Jewels

Monte Carlo, March 27 (A.P.).—Countess De Bettencourt, a Brazilian, was robbed of jewels valued at 3,000,000 francs (roughly $600,000), in a hotel here.

The jewels were in a satchel which was locked in a trunk. They were missed Saturday night. On Sunday the empty satchel was found in a room next to that occupied by the countess. Police are searching for a servant who disappeared shortly after the theft.

LOUISIANA'S VOTE
AT HOUSTON TO GO TO GOV. AL SMITH

New Yorker Is Outstanding Candidate, Says Chairman Ewing.

DELEGATION CHOSEN
UNDER THE UNIT RULE

G. O. P. Leaders Back Hoover to Carry State Should Smith Not Run.

(Associated Press.)
New Orleans, La., March 27.—This State, in the heart of the solid South, will cast its twenty votes at Houston for Gov. Smith. So far as the Democratic situation is concerned it's all settled in Louisiana with the prospective Smith vote tucked away for safe keeping in the custody of Col. Robert Ewing, publisher of the New Orleans States, who is Democratic national committeeman and one of the delegates at large to the Houston convention.

Ewing had a big part in nominating Woodrow Wilson at Baltimore and managed Wilson's first publicity campaign. He is 65, has rather fought shy of politics in recent years, has a host of friends and is referred to here as "The grand old man of them all."

He did not mind votes in talking to me about the Democratic nomination. "Smith is the outstanding candidate I think we ought to nominate him. That's my personal view."

Reflected by Others.

But Ewing's personal view is reflected all through the delegation, which has already been selected by the Democratic State central committee. Huey P. Long, who has been nominated for governor and will be in office when the convention meets, is understood to be in full agreement with Ewing. Incidentally Ewing backed Long in the latter's bitter three-cornered fight for the nomination. Representative Riley J. Wilson and O. H. Simpson, the present governor, being the other contestants.

Arthur J. O'Keefe, head of the Citizens' organization and a sort of Louisiana Tammany—supported Wilson, but O'Keefe had openly announced for Smith.

Long and Ewing carried every congressional district in the State but one. Among Ewing's opponents was James M. Thomson, publisher of the Iten here. Thomson is the husband of Genevieve Clark, only daughter of the late Champ Clark, of Missouri, who might

Kansas Cashier Held
When Bank Is Closed

Atchison, Kans., March 27 (A.P.).—W. F. Doud, 27, cashier of the Farmers State Bank at Cummins, a village near here, was arrested today charged by State bank examiners with embezzling approximately $29,000. The bank was closed.

The shortage was principally in individual deposits which were not shown in the bank's report, the examiners said. Deposits of $30,000 were listed in the last report of the institution which was capitalized at $10,000.

Reports of Bad Weather
May Halt German Flight

Aviators, Prepared for Take-Off at Dawn, Uncertain As Zero Hour Approaches—President Cosgrave Receives Fliers Who Seek to Cross Atlantic.

Dublin, Wednesday, March 28 (A.P.).—Early this morning it was stated that the German plane Bremen probably would not start for America today because of unfavorable weather reports.

It was stated that Capt. Hermann Koehl and Arthur Spindler will sit side by side in the cockpit, each having a complete set of controls. They will keep their seats throughout the voyage, but each will have a cushion behind his head so that he can snatch a few minutes sleep while his companion pilots the plane.

Dublin, March 27 (A.P.).—Capt. Hermann Koehl, Baron von Heunfeldt and Arthur Spindler, comprising the crew of the Junkers plane Bremen, intend to take off for New York at daybreak tomorrow. This was their announced intention at 10 o'clock tonight, the "if" in the situation being the state of the weather.

Baron von Heunfeldt and Capt. Koehl called on President Cosgrave, of the Irish Free State, today. The president wished them "bon voyage," and the aviators expressed to him their great appreciation of the courtesy they had received here and of the manner in which the facilities of the free state air force had been placed at their disposal.

Herr von Dehn, the German consul general, was host at a party today in honor of the fliers and their advance guard of helpers, who came to Dublin last week. The aviators themselves were entertained at the officers' mess at the Baldonnel airfield tonight.

The aviators have undertaken to convey a message to America. It is from J. J. Walsh, director of the tall-tower games which are to be held in Dublin in August, and is addressed to Dr. Slattery, field agent of the United States Lines in New York. Dr. Slattery is chief organizer of the games in America.

The message expresses the hope that the United States will be represented by a full team in all branches of athletics at the games.

The man who displayed the least disappointment over the weather conditions was Baron von Heunfeldt, through whose efforts the flight has been made possible. He nonchalantly remarked: "With a little patience we expect to get an easterly breeze, which we hope will wait us to a firm landing place on Mitchell Field. Long Island. The moment we get weather that appeals to us, we will start off."

As the hours passed it seemed unlikely that conditions would be favorable for a start today, then 5 o'clock tomorrow morning was tentatively fixed and 30 hours the time for the flight from Baldonnel to Mitchell Field, New York. The course will be by way of New Foundland, but the final decision depends on the weather and the reports from the weather experts.

ROBBERY VICTIMS VIEW
$20,000 GOODS DISPLAY

Loot Found in Seat Pleasant Raid; Two Women and Four Men Arrested.

FIVE IDENTIFY ARTICLES

The squad room at police headquarters in the District Building yesterday took on the appearance of a "bargain day" in a department store. The two long tables in the room were piled with more than $20,000 worth of jewelry, clothing, household articles, cutlery, radio sets, flashlights and other articles while numerous victims of robberies during the past few years passed through the aisles in attempts to identify "missing goods."

As the result of a three-day investigation, Lieut. Edward Kelly and Detectives Joseph Waldron, Thomas Sweeney, John Flaherty, George Darnell and John Fowler conducted a raid on a house in Seat Pleasant, Md., where the articles were found.

The squad arrested Henry Thomas Green, 27 years old, and his wife, Mrs. Amelia Emma Green, 36 years old; Miss Ada Green, 17 years old; Joseph E. Green, 27 years old, of Forestville, Md.; Lewis Steiner, 22 years old, of Seat Pleasant; and Ray Noble, 20 years old, of Warren, Ohio, who were held for investigation.

Five persons, three of whom live here and two of whom are residents of Maryland, yesterday identified various pieces of jewelry and household goods among the articles recovered as having been stolen from them. The six persons under arrest for investigation in connection with the case, however, deny having any knowledge of the robberies.

Dent, M. Freeman, 34, Twenty-fourth street northeast, identified several pieces of jewelry which he claims were stolen from his home on February 8. Cash and jewelry totaling $367.50 was stolen from him by burglars who jimmied the front window to his home, he reported to police. Detective Charles J. P. Weber was assigned to the case.

Calvin Remsburg, 1319 Monroe street northeast, and Howard W. Berry, 830 Whitlir street northwest, both recognized jewelry belonging to them which was recovered. Remsburg's name was engraved on one piece of jewelry. His home was entered on February 23. Berry's home was entered March 8. Entrance was gained at both homes by forcing windows.

Frank Small, jr., who conducts an automobile accessory establishment at Meadows, Md., identified $680 worth of automobile tires and tubes, typewriters.

QUAKES SHAKE ITALY;
8 KILLED, 35 INJURED

Udine Province Gets Brunt of Shocks; Many Buildings Are Collapsing.

Rome, Italy, March 27 (A.P.).—Earthquakes took a toll of at least 8 killed and 35 hurt in towns of the province of Udine today. The casualty list may be increased later by reports from other parts of the Friulian region as soon as communications are restored in the mountain sections.

Carabinieri and Fascist militia were dispatched immediately to the scene of the disaster to aid the sufferers, restore morale and assist in repairing damages. It is reported that numerous buildings collapsed. From the village of Caneva there came tale of a baby being killed by a falling roof.

At Verzegnis two persons were killed and at Cavazzo Carnico three deaths occurred. Puses reported two killed and eight injured. The greatest damage to buildings was reported from Cavazzo Carnico and Verzegnis. At Tolmezzo a house collapsed and the church was cracked.

CALLES SIGNS OIL
ORDER; U.S.-MEXICO
STRIKE SEEN ENDED

Expected to Remove All Complaints That Law Is Confiscatory.

AGREEMENT IS LAID TO MORROW EFFORTS

Titles Valid Before 1917 to Remain So, Promulgation Declares.

Mexico City, March 27 (A.P.).—Through the efforts of the American Ambassador, Dwight W. Morrow, the ten-year controversy between the governments of Mexico and the United States on the oil question seems to be ended by the signing today by President Calles of new regulations governing the oil law. These, it is thought, will remove the cause of complaints that the law is retroactive and confiscatory as applied to American oil rights acquired before May 1, 1917, when the new constitution nationalized the mineral lands of Mexico.

The regulations are the outcome of conference extending over several months among Ambassador Morrow, President Calles and Luis Morones, minister of industry and commerce. They declare in effect that oil titles valid before 1917 are valid in perpetuity.

This removes the substitution of 50-year confirmations of rights for rights prior to 1917, which the United States Government considered confiscatory. The new regulations also define more liberally than the previous law the precise "positive acts" or physical works upon lands necessary for retention of titles and the mineral rights thereon.

Confiscation Issue Ended.

Differences still may arise between individual oil companies and the Mexican government on the question of titles or the way in which the law may be administered. But a issue between the governments of retroactive and confiscatory features is apparently disposed of.

Questions still remain as to what land titles any given company had on May 1, 1917. The effect of the regulations is that titles good then are good now for an unlimited time. Any titles which were bad before 1917 will remain bad.

The regulations still require confirmation of the 191

ACCUSER HAS RIGHT SLANT, SAYS THOMPSON

Rewards in Blasting of Senator's and Judge's Homes
Now $65,000.

Chicago, March 27 (A.P.)—Bitter recriminations came tonight as the aftermath of the bombing last night of the homes of Charles S. Deneen, United States senator, and Judge John A. Thompson, candidate for the Republican nomination for the State's attorney.

Rewards totaling $65,000 were offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bombers.

From Washington, Senator Deneen, head of a strong Republican faction in Chicago, issued a statement asserting that "the bombing of my home is the work of organized and protected criminal classes of Chicago and Cook County in their desperate effort to retain political control of the city and county."

At the Swanson home the bomb exploded just as the judge drove into his garage, missing him, but damaging the residence. He said he regarded the act as an obvious attempt at assassination.

There is no doubt that the bomb was thrown by those whose criminal interests are opposing the election of an enemy to their political alliances," he said.

Croive Offers Reward.

Robert E. Crowe, candidate for reelection as State's attorney and co-leader, with Mayor William Hale Thompson, of a powerful Republican faction, offered a reward of $10,000 for the arrest and conviction of any one connected with the bombing. He also offered immunity to any one who would supply information.

With his offers, however, he coupled an accusation that the Deneen faction leaders themselves were responsible for the bombing in an effort to bolster sympathy for a ticket facing defeat in the State-wide primary April 2.

Michael Hughes, police commissioner, offered a reward of $5,000 and issued a statement backing up Crowe's allegations.

No where was there an arrest in sight and no one protested to have a view as to the guilty persons. Any man who would bomb his own home to make headway in politics," Judge Swanson said, concerning Crowe's charge.

Any man that takes such a stand, not to be trusted any further with public duty."

Thompson Backs Crowe.

The bombing of the Deneen home, a two-story frame structure, at first was considered as possibly opening the way for Federal investigation of Chicago conditions, but George E. Q. Johnson, United States district attorney, stated that there was clearly was not within Federal province.

Mayor Thompson issued a statement asserting his belief that "Bolt Browe has the right slant on what is going on," and later came out with a plan to use brass bands and old-fashioned street parades every two weeks until Christmas to advertise Chicago's growth and offset her reputation as a crime-ridden city.

Will Rogers Says Ford Could Make Even a Farm Pay

Special to The Washington Post.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 27.—Am here in Pittsburgh but am the only person that didn't come to investigate the coal situation, Henry Ford is paying $8 a day and having no trouble in his mines. Ain't it funny when it looks like a business can't be run right, he bobs up and shows that it can. I believe that fellow could make a farm pay.

Talk about Andy Mellon's great Treasury record, you ought to see his State political one. He is the only man since Mussolini in Italy that controls both the Republican and Democratic delegations to both conventions. I think he will instruct both delegations for Coolidge.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

83-YEAR-OLD LONDONER SEIZES HUGE ESTATE

Declaring He Is Long-Lost
Angell Heir, Allery
Collects Rents.

$300,000,000 IS AT STAKE

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

London, March 27.—The dashing hero of London's newest romance is William Allery, a spruce 83-year-old South Londoner. He has suddenly jumped in the limelight and astonished a couple of dozen tenants of a valuable piece of property in Brixton road by declaring he is the long-lost heir to the Angell estate, and therefore the rightful landlord.

Scorning mere verbal claims, Mr. Allery appeared at the building today, coolly turned one of the rooms into an office, and informed the tenants that he is ready to collect rents, with other income from the $300,000,000 estate, amount to the tidy sum of $10,000,000 yearly. To make the case even more parallel with the famous Anneke Jans estate case of New York, it appears that tenants heretofore believed that the landlord was no less a spiritual authority than the Church of England itself. Agitated ecclesiastical commissioners today covered their confusion with the dignified announcement, "We have nothing to say at present."

The lively octogenarian declared he had uncovered the "missing link" supplying absolute proof of his claims. Meanwhile calmly accepted the monthly rent of 15s from each of three tenants.

Considerable zest was added to the case by the chorus of such statements of dazed persons who have now rushed forward, claiming some sort of right to the property. Marriage records are being smashed in an attempt to substantiate the claims. All sorts of skeletons are being dragged forth from the closets, including the murders, as well as lesser crimes in order to trace family connections for the direction of the $300,000,000 prize.

MRS. COOLIDGE'S MOTHER COMES OUT OF DELIRIUM

President's Wife Visits Bed-

Times in Day.

CONDITION IS UNCHANGED

Northampton, Mass., March 27 (A.P.)—The condition of Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, mother of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who is critically ill at the Dickinson Hospital here, remained unchanged throughout the day, her physician, Dr. J. E. Hayes, announced tonight.

The mind of the patient is clear and she is able to converse with Mrs. Coolidge, who arrived from Washington early today.

The wife of the President visited the hospital three times during the day, the first being soon after her arrival. She returned at 11:15 a. m. to spend an hour and a half at her mother's bedside. Her last visit was made early this evening.

Dr. Hayes let it be known today that Mrs. Goodhue's condition was not improved, which was expected by the physician giving the probable cause as faulty kidney function. She had been notified of the arrival of Mrs. Coolidge and the warning that various variations might occur in the case of a patient so advanced in years.

Mrs. Goodhue is 78 years old. She suffered from a stroke in 1915, and has been at the hospital since. Mrs. Coolidge's present visit is her third since her mother became ill.

Postmaster Hunted As Slayer of Girl

Special to The Washington Post.

Middletown, N. Y., March 27.—Wall-kills' 700 villagers tonight were hunting their postmaster, Harry McHugh, 32, over hill and dale as the slayer of the village beauty, Marie Terwilliger, 17-year-old telephone operator, shot this morning in a hallway of Ritchborn's general store.

From the lips of villagers Sheriff Rice learned of the romance that had set all Wallkill talking the rivalry of the McHugh brothers for the hand of Marie Terwilliger. Marie saw Harry daily on her way to work. He, a war veteran of 32, began to press his suit when she was 16, a year ago.

Jesse, aged 24, seemed to find more favor in the girl's eyes.

Rev. Dr. D. A. Poling Principal
Speaker at Calvary
Baptist Church.

ATTENDED BY THOUSANDS

Making an eloquent appeal for evangelism, Christian citizenship, and world peace, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor, delivered the keynote address last night at the opening session of the three-day "Crusade for Christ" convention of the District of Columbia Christian Endeavor Union at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Dr. Poling opened the convention to support only those aspirants for public office in the coming elections who are willing to lay their political futures on the altar of inequivalent law enforcement. Christian citizenship is liberty under law, he stated.

Merritt L. Smith, president of the District Union, presided at the meeting. He welcomed the thousands of members, who overflowed the church auditorium.

SHIPSTEAD IS INDORSED
AFTER BITTER DEBATESenator Praised as Champion and Assailed as Betrayer in Farm-Labor Meeting.

NORRIS MAY BE BACKED

St. Paul, Minn., March 27 (A.P.).—Over stubborn opposition of anti-conservatives, the Minnesota Farmer-Labor convention late today indorsed United States Senator Henrik Shipstead for reelection. During a fiery two-hour debate, the senior senator from Minnesota was attacked as a "betrayer of the party that elected him" and defended as "the champion of the working class."

The final vote by acclamation was taken, but an official check showed that approximately one-fourth of the 300 delegates registered disapproval of the motion for indorsement.

First signs of the split appeared on the floor when C. R. Hedlund, of Minneapolis, presented the minority report providing for the indorsement of W. F. Watkins, representing the Minneapolis Switchmen's Union, for the Senate. Opening the attack on the majority report, Virgil Dunn, of Minneapolis, flayed the Farmer-Labor senator for "committing treachery of the worst kind."

"If we indorse him," he declared, "we will be pinning our hopes to a broken reed to be betrayed and sold out to the other parties."

R. D. Cramer, editor of the Minneapolis Labor Review, leading the defense of Senator Shipstead, characterized him as "the most colossal figure in the United States Senate" and expressed the hope that his "multitudinous constituents" would answer the attack against him "with the greatest majority ever given a United States senator from Minnesota."

Conditional indorsement of Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, for President was voted after the committee altered the resolution to include the clause, "Providing he gives his consent to become a candidate on our ticket."

LOUISIANA TO GIVE

have been nominated in 1912 if Ewing and others had not been so active for Woodrow Wilson. Thomson recently attempted to launch a boom for Senator Reed, of Missouri. Mrs. Thomson has been succeeded as national committeewoman by Mrs. Siffa Hamilton, wife of a prominent lawyer here, who is a brilliant orator as well as a musician. She is for Smith.

The real fight for control of the delegation took place on February 18 last, when the State central committee, with the support of Long and Ewing, decided to name the delegates by the same direct process that was followed later in Arkansas. The power of the Long-Ewing combine was challenged by a motion to have a convention held at Baton Rouge and the delegates then chosen. The motion was beaten 66 to 33 and this two-to-one ratio persisted in other test votes.

The delegates at large are Huey P. Long; alternate, Harvey G. Fields, of Union Parish, former chairman of the Democratic State committee; Senator Broussard; alternate, T. Arthur Edwards, Calcasieu Parish; Senator Ransdell; alternate, W. H. Sullivan, who is manager of the Goodyear interests in the State; Robert Ewing; alternate, A. J. Aford.

The list of sixteen delegates, with their alternates, is headed by John P. Sullivan, who is understood to be for Smith, and Paul Maloney, second on the list, for Smith, and John C. Davey, prominent lawyer here, and fourth on the list is a strong Smith supporter, as are others down the line. There may be some on the list of delegates and alternates who are not for Smith, but such opposition, if it exists, will not count as the State committee has voted to apply the unit rule. This means that the majority of the delegates control the State's vote as a unit.

No Complications Seen.

There appear to be no serious complications in sight for this State's prospective part in the nomination contest later in the campaign, no matter who gets the Democratic or Republican nominations. Theodore P. Mohr, secretary of the National Republican Club, who is a veteran in State politics, says if the ruling Republican powers will give the present Kuntz organization the blessing and support there will be a chance to carry the State for Hoover against a Democrat. He admits that chances would not be so good if Smith is nominated, but he shares the view of other Republicans that Smith is not going to be the nominee. Of course no one in Democratic circles takes any Republican claim seriously in this State.

There is a gratifying atmosphere of cordiality in this State, where every one seems to mind his own business in official and political matters without endeavoring to manage other people's affairs. The Antislavery League keeps strictly out of politics and has the respect of both parties. Religion, apparently, does not figure at all.

The northern part of the State is mostly Protestant with the southern part Catholic. Protestant and Catholic State officers, United States senators, etc., are elected according to their merits for the particular offices without any thought or even knowledge on the part of the voters as to what religious denomination they belong to. The Klan is not a factor now in Louisiana politics.

Gov. Smith Forwards
South Dakota Papers

New York, March 27 (A.P.).—Gov. Alfred E. Smith today signed and forwarded to South Dakota a certificate which qualifies him to enter the May primaries in that State for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency.

The certificate, required by South Dakota law, will be filed at Pierre on Friday, and by signing it the governor agreed to support the platform adopted by the recent Democratic State nominating convention, which stresses relief for agriculture as the leading issue.

J. T. ROBINSON ASKS
TARIFF LAW REPEAL

Holds Commission Has Not Functioned According to Congressional Purpose.

New York, March 27 (A.P.).—Repeal of the flexible tariff law because in his opinion the tariff commission had not functioned in accordance with congressional purpose was advocated by Senator Joseph T. Robinson (Democrat), of Arkansas, tonight at the seventh annual dinner of the National Council of American Importers and Exporters.

He declared that in six years of operation of the act increased tariffs had been authorized in nineteen cases, including wheat and butter, while only five decreased duties have gone into effect, and that of comparatively trivial importance.

The senator stated as his belief that the commission should be a scientific fact-finding body including in its membership several economists of renown. He complained that in instances where the tariff commission had been placed on it and in others that members of little tariff experience had been chosen. He argued that the present policy of the United States should be to reduce rather than raise tariff levels.

HOOVER BIG FAVORITE IN VOTE AT HOPKINS

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., March 27.—Herbert Hoover is the choice of the undergraduate body of the Johns Hopkins University for President of the United States. Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, is their second selection, and Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, is a poor third.

As a result of a straw vote taken among the students, 222 votes were cast for the Secretary of Commerce, 127 for Gov. Smith and only 90 for the Maryland executive.

The Republicans received 246 votes as against 237 for the Democrats. Lowden received 14 votes and Willis and Davies polled 5, while 12 votes went to Reed, 7 to Walsh and 1 to Donahay.

Raleigh, N. C., March 27 (A.P.).—Proponents of the League of Nations idea were assailed here tonight by United States Senator James A. Reed with an intensity that recalled the fiery Missouriian's opposition a few years ago to Woodrow Wilson and the war President's League of Nations proposal for the United States.

Senator Reed addressed the North Carolina Daughters of the American Revolution at their annual convention. Speaking on the subject of "Americanism," he bitterly assailed those who teach the "atrocious" doctrine that national lines should be broken down and set up as a substitute for national sovereignty, "a scheme of internationalism."

"They are willing," he said, "to trade our right of self-control for participation in international councils."

"Our country," he quoted "in her intercourse with foreign nations, may she always be in the right, but right or wrong, our country."

Praising the D. A. R. for their patriotic work, the speaker called on the Nation "to hark back to the principles of free government established by the fathers."

The senator did not refer to his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency.

COOKING SCHOOL
NEWSAs quick as broiling a steak

All you need is an ordinary saucer, a French Fryer and a 3-pound tin of Crisco.

Put your Crisco into a cold pan and heat slowly. When a piece of bread browns in 20 seconds your Crisco is ready for frying potatoes. Don't wait for Crisco to smoke.

Fill your French Fryer half full of potatoes and lower it into the Crisco. Increase the heat as the cold potatoes naturally cool the Crisco a little.

When brown lift French Fryer out of the fat, shake lightly, drain the potatoes on brown paper and sprinkle with salt.

When you have finished your Crisco back into the can and set it aside to cool. Then it is ready to use over and over again for anything you want to fry. The taste of one thing will not be carried to another.

French Fried
Potatoes

JUST because we eat them almost every day we are likely to think of potatoes as a homely food. Why—they are banquet food! Really the flavor of the potato—particularly when French fried—is one of the most subtle and delicate of all flavors that inventive nature ever concocted.

But to bring out this delicate flavor it is essential that you use a sweet flavored cooking fat. And there's only one way to really test the flavor of your fat—taste it, just as you taste your milk; just as you test your eggs.

Taste Crisco as it comes from the can. Isn't it easy to understand now why Crisco's fresh sweet flavor makes fried foods taste so much better?

French Fried Potatoes

A real treat at home. When fried in Crisco they are delicious—a crisp even brown, no greasy outside and no smoke in your kitchen.

Allow one medium-sized potato for each person. Peel potatoes, cut in strips about one-half inch square. Let stand in cold water about an hour, or they can be kept in the ice-box overnight if covered with water. When ready to fry, drain, dry in a towel, and put a few at a time into hot Crisco (375° F.), or when a bread crumb browns in 20 seconds. When brown and tender, drain on brown paper, sprinkle with salt, and serve.

Fry raw or cooked sweet potatoes the same way, but do not soak them in water.

Never wait for Crisco to smoke, as it would be too hot to fry if it were hot enough to smoke.

You taste
your milk—
You test
your eggs—

NOW—
taste your shortening!

Crisco's sweet flavor will delight you!

Crisco is used for Frying, for Shortening, for Cake-making

Crisco is the registered trade mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Company

A Cunarder and a Mascot!...

Is it just a coincidence...or are good golfers judges of good ships? For seven consecutive years the winner of the British Open Championship has crossed Cunard...Jock Hutchison in 1921...Walter Hagen in 1922 and 1924...Arthur Havers in 1923...Jim Barnes in 1925... "Bobby" Jones in 1926 and 1927...

Is sailing in the Aquitania on April 18th psychic gravitation...a sportsman's hunch...a mascot...or plain copycatishness...? All three! Obviously, the way to see the "Royal and ancient game" played this year at historic Sandwich, is to sail in the ship which is prime favorite with its exponents...

The Aquitania gives a magnificent performance which sportsmen are first to appreciate... She is swift and her form is excellent... She is a sporting means to a sporting end... In luxury... appointments... and service, she "dresses" the Atlantic...

If you are going over for the British Open Championship on May 7th, the Aquitania is the ship...or if you miss the "Golfers Luck" you can sail in the Berengaria on April 25th...and you can keep yourself fit in the crack gymnasium and swimming pool...

TOWN CLUB

SENATORS TO GRILL HAYS ON REPORTS, IF ANY, TO UPHAM

Joseph R. Grundy, Head of Pennsylvania Manufacturers, Also Summoned.

(Associated Press.) Besides recalling Will H. Hays, who is now abroad, the Senate Teapot Dome committee is planning also to question Joseph R. Grundy, of Bristol, Pa., president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association, regarding Republican party financing immediately preceding the 1924 presidential campaign.

Grundy has raised large sums in Pennsylvania for political campaigns and committee members desire to know whether he had any part in obtaining the huge sum used to wipe out the Republican party deficit late in 1923, when Hays received $260,000 of Continental Trading Co. Liberty bonds from Harry P. Sinclair for the same purpose. Members of the committee disclosed

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon and recessed at 4:25 to meet at noon today.

The report of the Department of Labor showing 1,800,000 unemployed in the country was assailed by the Democrats, who contended the number was nearer 4,000,000.

Passed the House bill ratifying the war debt settlement with Yugoslavia. Finance committee ordered a favorable report on the bill providing a debt settlement with Greece.

The Teapot Dome committee announced that it would question Joseph R. Grundy, of Bristol, Pa., regarding Republican party financing prior to the 1924 presidential campaign, and that it would recall Will Hays when he returns from Europe.

Coal investigation continued by the interstate commerce subcommittee.

Yesterday there are a number of additional matters about which they want to question Hays before the inquiry is brought to a close.

Other Details Sought.

Among others is whether he made a detailed report of the Sinclair contributions to the late Fred W. Upham, then treasurer of the Republican national committee, as appeared to be required by law existing at that time, but since repealed by the corrupt practices act of 1925.

Hays distributed the bonds to various persons to be used as "security" for contributions in like amounts to the Republican fund. Secretary McInerney refused to use $50,000 of these bonds and William M. Butler, chairman of the national committee, declined to entertain any proposal that he so use them.

Several others fell into line with Hays' plan, however, among them Senator T. Coleman du Pont, of Delaware; Upham, the late John T. Pratt, of New York City, and the late John W. Weeks, Secretary of War in the Harding Cabinet.

The former Postmaster General sent $60,000 of the bonds to Upham, $50,000 to Pratt, $25,000 to Weeks and $75,000 to Du Pont, then chairman of the board of the Empire Trust Co., who used this sum to pay off a Republican committee note in that bank.

Following More Cues.

While the committee is in recess awaiting the return to Washington of its prosecutor, Senator Walsh, of Montana, its field investigators still are busy running down many leads which daily reach Chairman Nye and other members. Many of these fall to be traced all of the $3,080,000 Liberty bond profits of the Continental Co. and to determine who it was that received the fourth share, the others having gone to Sinclair, H. M. Blackmer, former chairman of the board of Midwest Refining Co., and James O'Neill, president of the Prairie Oil & Gas Co.

with union officials giving their side of the story.

Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, called attention to the bombing of Senator Deneen's home in Chicago, and suggested that the Marines be transferred from Nicaragua to the Illinois city.

Senator Heflin (Democrat), Alabama, called for a presidential candidate to run on the issue of withdrawal of Marines from Nicaragua.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 5 o'clock to meet at noon today.

Passed the $350,100,000 Navy appropriation bill.

Accepted an amendment to the bill by Representative Gambrell (Democrat), of Maryland, providing $250,000 for a new boat house at the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Voted down an amendment by Representative Beggs (Republican), Ohio, directing the Navy Department to contract "at once" for two new dirigibles.

Hearings were begun by the interstate and foreign commerce committee on the Denison bill to extend size and the service of the Mississippi River Government barge line.

Roads committee favorably reported the Moore-Swanson bill authorizing $4,500,000 for a memorial boulevard from the Virginia end of the Arlington Memorial Bridge to Mount Vernon.

BUSINESS INCREASING, RESERVE BOARD SAYS

Report Shows Great Gain in Money Furnished for Commercial Uses.

(Associated Press.) During the last two months business has shown signs of improvement, in the opinion of the Federal Reserve Board, which cites the increase of approximately $200,000,000 in reserve banks' commercial loans from the middle of February to the middle of March as a healthy indication. This represents, the board reported yesterday, the largest increase for the same period of any other recent year.

While the commercial loans were going up, loans on securities and investments were virtually at a standstill, showing an increased flow of funds into business channels and less movement of money into the speculative field.

In addition to the increased commercial loans, the board reports show increased production and distribution of commodities from February 1 to March 15, with wholesale commodity prices remaining practically unchanged.

"Production of manufactures in February increased 3 per cent over January and was 2 per cent larger than a year ago, while production of minerals declined slightly and continued to be substantially smaller than last year," the reserve board said.

Whitehouse to Take Madrid Embassy Post

(Associated Press.) Sheldon Whitehouse, of New York, has been transferred from the post of Counselor of Embassy at Paris to be Counselor of Embassy at Madrid.

Mr. Whitehouse is in the United States on a 60-day leave of absence, at the expiration of which he will proceed to Madrid. The change was described at the State Department as a routine one, and not connected with the recent charges that Mayor Walker, of New York, was shadowed on his visit to Paris. These charges have been denied.

WEST VIRGINIA COAL OPERATORS OPPOSE REVEALING RECORDS

Attorneys to Argue Against Senate Inquiry Demand for Mine Accounts.

(Associated Press.) The union side of the controversy, which embroiled the West Virginia bituminous mining fields, continued to be presented today to the Senate coal investigation committee, while operators' attorneys prepared for their pending challenge of the committee's constitutional right to scrutinize the mine account books.

West Virginia operators subpoenaed balked at being required to introduce figures of cost of production and sales prices. Their counsel notified the committee of the objection, which is based on the ground that such data has no relation to interstate commerce and is beyond the jurisdiction of the committee.

In executive session the committee considered their request for a hearing of legal arguments on the question and decided to accede. It was determined to allow these arguments to be presented before further examination of operators.

Goff Supports Operators.

Senator Goff (Republican), West Virginia, who plunged into active participation in the inquiry, although he had just returned after an illness, announced that he held the operators' view of the legal issue involved and would be sustained.

Perry Tellow, president of the West Virginia district of the United Mine Workers, reviewed in detail his general charges made previously that southern West Virginia operators had conspired to break collective bargaining and had oppressed miners by overcharges at company stores and by evictions.

His presentation was interrupted at one point by a verbal melee, when Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, read a 1914 speech of A. M. Belcher, West Virginia operators' counsel, before the United Mine Workers at Indianapolis. This quoted the attorney as declaring that Congress had refused.

"I was merely trying to show Mr. Belcher's position then and now," said Wheeler.

"Well, we who have been here these days know your position," retorted Belcher.

Chairman Watson raised his hands at this point and said: "Let us have peace."

Attention was then directed toward proposals for Government regulation of the industry with Wheeler reading an editorial excerpt indorsing that step. He supported the central sales agency idea, saying it might be well to amend the Sherman antitrust law to permit such cooperation between operators.

Senator Goff interjected a query as to the constitutionality of Federal intervention, prompting Chairman Watson to comment.

"The problem is that of finding a middle ground between the union demand for Federal supervision and the operators' theory of 'the survival of the fittest.'"

Tellow forthwith concluded with a warning that the men alleged to be victimized by low wages lack the restraint of education and might seek retaliation by violence.

"I am conservative," he said, "but I can see forces at work that must be met by cooperation between the operators and the miners. You can not meet that situation except by Government control."

Senators Approve Debt Settlements

(Associated Press.) Final congressional approval was given yesterday to the war debt settlement of Yugoslavia with passage by the Senate of the House bill ratifying the agreement worked out by the American debt commission. The kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes will refund, under terms of the settlement, $62,850,000 over a period of 60 years.

A favorable report on the proposed debt settlement with Greece was ordered by the Senate finance committee. The bill carrying terms of the settlement provides for an additional loan to Greece of $12,167,000 by America under terms of the tripartite loan agreement of 1918 and the payment by Greece of its present debt of $18,125,000 over 62 years.

FEW PEOPLE KNOW how white teeth really are. Miss Rene St. Denis, like millions of others, now knows through daily use of Pepsodent.

Your Teeth Not Naturally Dull, "Off Color"

If you think they are this simple free test will surely surprise you.

A FILM coat makes teeth lustreless and dull. That is what makes people think their teeth are naturally "off color." When you remove it the new way teeth take on a brilliance that amazes. Gums grow firm and pink.

A simple test proves the great truth of this discovery. A test that stars of the stage and screen have made by scores. It has taught them their most important beauty aid.

A new way in tooth and gum care removes the dingy film that clouds your teeth. A film that absorbs discolorations and keeps teeth dingy.

Just run your tongue across your teeth. And you will feel that film. It is the great enemy of pretty teeth and healthy gums. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It forms a breeding place for germs. And germs, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea and other serious troubles. Ordinary brushing fails in successfully fighting film. And under film are the clear, whiter teeth you envy.

Now modern science has perfected an effective film combatant, called Pepsodent. It acts to curdle film, then to remove it. It firms and protects gums, beautifies teeth quickly and correctly.

WILL THERE BE TAX REDUCTION?

The problem of tax reduction, in the opinion of the Treasury, has already become complicated by the congressional desire to go beyond the budget figures in its appropriations. The most recent estimate is that instead of a cut of $225,000,000, at first thought feasible, only $200,000,000 can be taken from the revenues for the coming year. President Coolidge has more than once hinted broadly that it was his intention to veto any measure that did not follow out the suggestions of the Treasury.

The facts in the case appear, therefore, to put squarely up to Congress the question whether or not there shall be tax reduction. The House, in a measure which was drawn before any estimate of expenditures by the present Congress or revenues for the present year could be had, voted to take $290,000,000 off the national tax bill. The Senate with considerable presence pigeonholed the measure to await the returns of collections for the first taxable period. An effort will now be made to bring the bill within reasonable limits.

The task of those who seek to make the tax measure fit the Treasury situation will not be easy. Democratic leaders are firm in their intention to keep the bill at its present total or increase it. They profess once more to think that Secretary Mellon is more interested in accumulating a surplus than in granting tax relief, and they insist that the administration is unduly conservative in its figures.

Their stubborn opposition may suffice to thwart the efforts of Republican leaders to bring tax reduction within the limits set by the President, but if the Democrats succeed they must accept the responsibility for defeating tax reduction. They can not go to the country and make capital of the reduction which they say they wanted to make when their votes were responsible for the failure to lighten the tax burden as much as would have been economically sound.

TRAFFIC SAFETY PLANS.

The American Automobile Association wound up its annual conference in Washington with the formulation and adoption of a nation-wide program for street and highway safety. The association plans to work along three fronts: First, making conditions safe on a basis of engineering study; second, education of all classes and all ages in personal carelessness; and third, enforcement of rules and regulations upon the minority who will not observe them voluntarily.

The American Road Builders Association estimates that 26,618 individuals were killed in highway accidents during 1927. During the same period 798,700 were seriously injured, and economic loss was estimated to the amount of more than $672,000,000, exclusive of minor damage to motor vehicles. The total killed represents an increase of 1,300 over 1926. "The human factor," says the association, "is the main element contributing to these accidents, but that human factor could to a large extent be offset by adequate motorizing facilities and regulation, coupled with the individual practice of courtesy and caution."

The Nation is fortunate that it has organizations such as the Road Builders Association and the American Automobile Association working toward traffic betterment. If no constant effort along such lines were being made it is probable that the annual traffic fatality toll would be far greater. Despite their efforts, however, conditions are getting worse every year and one wonders whether or not better ways to make the highways safe might be discovered. The program adopted by the A. A. A. is inclusive and if prosecuted vigorously by the 1,000 affiliated clubs it should produce results. The annual highway death toll can not be lessened except as individual motorists realize that highway safety is in their personal care.

MOUNT VERNON BOULEVARD.

The Moore bill, authorizing construction of a boulevard to connect Arlington Memorial Bridge with Mount Vernon, has been approved by the House committee. Favorable action upon it is anticipated, and since a similar measure has been passed by the Senate it is likely that work on the highway can be got under way shortly. Several routes are under consideration for the boulevard, the one following the course of the Potomac apparently being most generally favored. Selection of the route, however, is to be left entirely in the hands of the Washington Bicentennial Commission, which is planning the celebration of the 200th anniversary of Washington's birth.

The boulevard as proposed will cost $4,500,000. Tentative plans call for a 200-foot right of way with four lanes of travel, and parking and bridge paths on both sides. If the river route is selected, and this seems to be the most picturesque as well as the most logical, and if the road is to be completed in time to care for the crowds that will be attracted by the celebration in 1932, work must be started immediately, so that the hydraulic fills that are necessary will have time to settle.

Early action by the House, therefore, is desirable. There should be no opposition to the measure. Mount Vernon is visited by thousands every year, and a roadway making it more accessible would serve to increase the number of pilgrims. A more appropriate method of honoring the memory of Washington can not be imagined.

HOW TO STOP PANICS.

Secretary of Labor Davis' report on unemployment raises a very important question. It will be conceded by all close students of such matters that the question of financial, industrial and commercial depressions and panics is very largely psychological. Once start the report that unknown millions of men and women are out of work, and a mental effect is produced which becomes contagious and results in a falling off of sales, not only at retail but at wholesale, which in turn affects the manufacturer and turns a false rumor into a grim fact.

Panics are brought about by mental conditions. This mental condition usually starts from exaggerated reports. The time, and practically the only time, to check these mental sprees is when they start; that is to say, while they are being fed by exaggerated rumors of pending industrial depressions. It is fortunate that Secretary Davis was able to submit his report in time to check the exaggerated statements as to the volume of unemployment before these exaggerations worked irrevocable damage.

Why should there be any doubt as to the employment situation at any time? If the facts are always available in the raw in the Bureau of Labor Statistics, why should it be necessary to call upon the Secretary for such information by Senate resolution, and why should it take three weeks to develop this material in the Bureau of Labor Statistics?

The answer is that there are but nine employees working on this material. The Bureau of Labor Statistics' entire expenditure for volume of employment data including overhead is but $18,500 a year. With that sum it is able to secure reports from only 10,772 establishments, or about one in twenty, and these are from rather large establishments, because the bureau naturally feels that it must make a good showing in the number of employees covered. With the work of so small a crew, with the expenditure of no more money than this, it can not publish monthly any more than a skeleton of the information it collects; and the significance of this skeleton is not easily grasped by the public. It is only when the figures are elaborated and made to cover the whole field that the people really grasp their significance.

What ought to be done is that such a statement as was submitted to the Secretary of Labor by the Bureau of Labor Statistics should be made monthly, or at least quarterly. The work of the bureau, out of which it can develop such a report as that submitted to the Senate, ought to be made available frequently and as a matter of routine. Secretary Davis says that it will cost $100,000 to put the Bureau of Labor Statistics in a position to widen the scope of the data and to keep this sort of information constantly available. Such an appropriation would be the best investment that Congress could make.

The business stability of the United States depends upon confidence. Confidence can be shaken by wild rumors if the facts are not known; but if the public always knows the truth it will adapt itself to conditions and will not become the victim of panic as a result of wild rumors.

SAN FRANCISCO BRIDGE.

The City of San Francisco is asking Congress to grant permission to build a gigantic bridge across the bay, from Rincon Hill to the Alameda south mole. The bridge would be 150 feet high and 12,000 feet long, and two 1,200-foot spans on the San Francisco side, besides eighteen other spans, would give ample room for the passage of shipping. The tonnage of shipping in San Francisco Bay amounts to about 40,000,000 a year, and all but one of the shipping agencies favor the erection of the bridge.

The Navy Department and a sluge foreign shipping concern oppose the erection of the bridge. The Navy fears that its anchorage will be affected, and it also suggests that in time of war the destruction of a section of the bridge might block the channel. But the other spans afford ample searoom, and as to anchorage, there are 55 square miles available, sufficient for the world's navies. The bridge would be 5 feet higher than the great bridge over the Fifth of North, which has been found to offer no obstruction whatever to the British navy or merchant marine.

San Francisco is badly in need of this bridge, on account of the dangerous traffic congestion on the bay. There are 41 ferries plying every hour, and 45,000,000 persons and 3,500,000 automobiles are carried yearly. In time of fog this ferry trip is perilous, and the public is clamoring for safer means of travel. As automobile traffic increases the problem grows more serious and the danger of ferry disasters increases.

The objections of the Navy Department should not be permitted to stand in the way of the necessities of a great and growing city unless it can be conclusively shown that the national defense is endangered by the building of the proposed bridge. This has not been shown, San Francisco should be granted the outlet that it needs.

THE BREMEN'S ATTEMPT.

With a pistol carefully wrapped in waterproof material "in place of safety devices," scheduled for a nonstop flight to "heaven or Mitchell Field," the monoplane Bremen is being held at Baldonnel Airdrome, Ireland, awaiting favorable weather reports for the take-off. On Monday the ship was flown from Berlin to Dublin bearing Baron von Huenefeld, backer of the flight; Capt. Hermann Koehl, pilot, and Sergt. Arthur Spindler, mechanic. Baron von Huenefeld emphasizes the fact that this is a private venture. Nevertheless, it represents the initial 1928 effort on the part of Germany to capture the honor of being the first to negotiate the westward flight across the Atlantic.

Both abroad and in this country the venture is looked upon as extra hazardous. It is realized that the season for transatlantic flying, even eastward, has hardly yet opened.

The United States Weather Bureau says that storms are to be anticipated in midocean, and that the weather will be found little better than that which was faced by Capt. Walter Hinchliffe, whose westward flight with the Hon. Elsie Mackay ended in disaster. Furthermore, the warm spring sun has not yet reached the course somewhat south of the Great Circle over which the Bremen will be navigated, and there will be constant danger of ice forming on its wings.

The Bremen, a single-motored ship, was constructed by the Junkers works last year for a transatlantic flight. After 22 hours in the air, in which it was constantly beset with storms and adverse winds, having reached only the coast of Ireland, it was forced to turn its nose back toward Germany. After this incident, and several others somewhat similar, official Germany made known its disapproval of long-distance overwater flights in single motored "inadequate" machines. Reflecting this official disapproval, the German press frowns upon the present venture, and Luft Hansa, of which company Capt. Koehl was one of the chief pilots, has announced that he must be regarded "as dismissed."

The courageous crew of the Bremen may bring their ship through safely. Yet they are flying in the face of Providence, in a plane that obviously must be extended beyond reasonable safety limits.

ILLINOIS' POLITICAL WAR.

It is hard to picture the conditions that may develop in Chicago between now and the date of the primary, April 10, in view of the murderous attack made on Monday night upon the homes of Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John J. Swanson, leaders in the factional fight which involves the Republican party in Illinois. It matters not that no one was injured by the two bombs which were thrown. The intent was to kill, and judging from Chicago's past history retaliation will be both swift and sure.

The largest city in Illinois is the battleground, and in no figurative sense, the objective is the control of the Republican organization in the State. Arranged on one side are Mayor William Hale Thompson, Gov. Len Small, Frank L. Smith, senatorial candidate, and Robert E. Crowe, State's attorney. The wing of the party opposing them is headed by Senator Deneen, who has for his principal allies Oscar Carlstrom, attorney general; Louis Emerson, secretary of state and candidate for governor; and Otis Glenn, candidate for the United States Senate. In its national aspects the Thompson faction is pledged to the "Draft Coolidge" movement, while the Deneen element looks with favor upon the aspirations of Frank O. Lowden.

The political structure on both sides is one of strange alliances. Thompson and Small, at odds for years, have made their peace because of common enmity of Lowden. Carlstrom, who fought intensely to obtain for Smith his seat in the United States Senate, is now aligned against his former friend. Old working agreements all through the State have been split into fragments, but the greatest struggle centers around control of Cook County, which embraces Chicago.

The state of open political warfare, as distinguished from the sporadic killings which have been in progress among the gangsters for several years, began last week when "Diamond Joe" Esposito, a Deneen ward leader, was murdered. The attack upon the Deneen residence and the Swanson home was made immediately after the Esposito funeral. The slight interest of the officials of the city have in the affair may be judged by the only statement that State's Attorney Crowe has made. "I am satisfied," he said, "that last night's bombings were done by Deneen forces, and done mainly to discredit Mayor Thompson and myself."

There is slight wonder, in view of this official attitude, that Illinois politics is marked by the use of pistols, machine guns and dynamite. No more open invitation could be extended to the thugs and murderers to do their worst. Continuance of such conditions can only mean one thing, and that is that the domination of the government of Illinois by criminals, now almost at hand, will become complete.

THE MUSIC MERGER.

The Philharmonic and the Symphony Societies of New York are to be consolidated. Definite announcement to this effect has been made, and next season the orchestra, which the two societies have supported, will appear as a unit. Toscanini will be the chief conductor and will choose the musicians. Mengelberg will be one of the conductors, and Dr. Walter Damrosch has accepted appointment as guest conductor and adviser. It is hoped, according to the announcement, "to establish an orchestra with a sound financial backing that will guarantee the continuance of the musical traditions of the two societies, to undertake the erection of a new hall that will serve as a suitable and permanent home for the new orchestra, and to enlarge the educational work of the society by making available to musical students and school children in the City of New York a greater number of concerts at a price within the reach of every one."

The Philharmonic Orchestra, founded in 1842, is the second oldest symphony orchestra in the world. The New York Symphony Orchestra was founded in 1878. Few musical organizations are better known either in this country or abroad. There are other great American symphony orchestras, notably those located in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, but none stands out enough above the others to have gained the name and reputation of being truly national. Consolidation of the Philharmonic and Symphony Orchestras of New York may lead to the creation of a national orchestra.

Whether this transpires or not, however, the project is of importance to the country. The Philharmonic-Symphony Society of New York, as the new organization is to be called, undoubtedly will be able to establish a solid financial foundation through which its permanence and independence will be assured. Lack of such support has been one of the principal factors to discourage and handicap American musical organizations. Once its endowment has been secured, the Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra will be independent of periodic campaigns to raise funds to meet deficits through voluntary contributions and can devote its entire attention to the development of American orchestral music.

Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands buy ringside seats.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lindy's Success With Congress.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Lindy simply represents the initiative of an expert for what is right. Congress deals with national affairs; and what is right, from a national point of view, means not only honesty of purpose or simple common sense, but a careful personal training for the study of what is best for our purpose.

No Congress is called upon to wrestle with not only one important subject, but seemingly endless ones, stretching over the entire face of the earth. Without training for this whole gamut of affairs, Congress is simply hungry for real expert advice and real expert advice only. Place aux capables! Vive L'Amérique!

Reform Court Procedure.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I read with great interest your editorial on the Caraway bill, which has passed the Senate. As you say, the great mass of technicalities so often introduced in trials before the courts, operate to confuse the jury, thus standing in the way of justice. There is one way to remedy this matter. Require the judge to give his charge to the jury before the case is argued by the attorneys, and then hold the attorneys to a discussion of the law as thus given only. Under the present method the attorneys ramble the world over in their presentation of what they call the law, and as the opposing attorneys lay a like ramble a jury composed of laymen finds itself swamped. Were the attorneys confined to discussing only such law as may be contained in the charge by the court, less confusion would result. If we are to have reforms in the administration of justice we must begin by reforming the methods of court procedure. The main trouble lies in the latitude given attorneys in their argument.

AN EX-JUROR.

England and the Navy.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Will England succeed in pulling the United States into another ship scrapping match, where the United States will do all the scrapping? Many years ago the great Harry of the West wanted to know if the time would ever come when we would get out from under the apron of "the mother country," and stand upon our own feet. The years have gone by and we still let that mother country do with us as she will. We are to build a navy as it suits her, not as it suits ourselves. She must remain mistress of the seas. Her prosperity depends upon her commerce; to control commerce she encourages the building of a merchant marine, but wisely provides that the merchant marine must be on lines ready for war, should war come. There is not a ship of all those built by our Shipping Board that could be utilized in war otherwise than as a transport. Let us be wise enough and independent enough to build a navy commensurate with our needs, paying no attention to the kicks or the smooth chicanery of England.

How About It, Gen. Obregon?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Gen. Obregon is quoted as having stated in his speech at Cantitas, Mexico, that "foreign capital will be welcomed here" and "we open our arms to capital which has a conscience." The foreigners who invested their capital in Mexico prior and subsequent to the revolution of 1910 ask him what has become of that capital and the property it acquired. You, who had been a prominent general of the revolutionary forces and who led the revolt that wrested power from President Carranza, and thereby became president in the year 1920, did you initiate a policy for the protection of the prop-

New Blood

By ROBERT QUILLEN

YOU and a dozen friends buy a swamp in Florida. You clear it, drain it, landscape it and build homes; and lo! you have a new Paradise. The land cost you $6 an acre; it is now worth $1,000 an acre. Newcomers arrive. One of them says: "We came late, but we've as much right here as you have. Sell us land at $6 an acre and we will put up sheet-iron shacks."

How do you answer? You say to the newcomers: "Our brains and labor made this Paradise from a swamp. You may come in, but on our terms. This is a good neighborhood now. We want no neighbors except those who can live up to it. And whether our conditions seem reasonable or unreasonable, that is our private business and not yours."

You would talk that way and nobody would think you unfair. What, then, of America? Early arrivals made it what it is. They were immigrants, just as the newcomers are; but they have built a nation and thus earned the right to dictate the terms on which others may enter.

The "typical American" is a mixture of many breeds. Obviously, then, breeds that won't mix or can't mix never can be Americanized, and have no business here. Obviously, too, mixture produces good stock. The problem, then, is to select the breeds that make the best mixture.

Common sense will solve the problem. Politics won't. America has no monopoly of brains or virtue. There is good blood across the water still. The 25,000 listed in "Who's Who in America" include 458 born in England, 316 from Germany, 135 from Ireland, 129 from Scotland, 92 from Russia, 87 from Sweden, 76 from France, 69 from Italy, 48 from Norway, 43 from Austria, 34 from Poland, 33 from Hungary, 32 from Wales, 28 each from Holland and Denmark, 25 from Turkey, 16 from Belgium, 13 from Lithuania, 19 from Czechoslovakia, 11 each from Roumania and Syria, 5 each from Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, 2 from Finland, 2 from Greece.

This Congress will discuss immigration. Those who now compose America ask only that fresh blood admitted be an asset and not a liability.

erties of foreigners? The answer must be no. It was you, as President of the republic of Mexico, who gave the necessary orders for the wholesale confiscation of the properties of foreigners, properties purchased for cash consideration and developed by the capital and enterprise of foreigners. And in this wholesale confiscation which you carried into effect did you make any attempt to compensate the foreigners for his vested interests? The answer is no. You not only made no attempt to compensate them, but you knew that when it was your policy to confiscate their properties your government was, so far as concerned the foreigner, absolutely bankrupt.

Of the millions of dollars of property that was owned and developed by foreigners and is now in the possession of Mexican nationals, the owners are without one cent's av of compensation. Can we find that Gen. Obregon and his partisans have given any of their possessions to the masses who were not owners of property? The answer is no. But we do find that he and his immediate partisans have, by revolutionary procedure, become possessed of large financial resources and are the proprietors of many thousands of acres of land.

What has become of that Mexico we foreigners loved and did so much to create? Poverty and ruins are throughout the land! For the first time in the history of that republic millions of her citizens are in our country employed or seeking employment. Gen. Obregon came into the presi-

Ohio State Journal: There is one elderly girl of our acquaintance who still calls 'em limbs and we often lead her up to the subject, just to recall old times.

Poor Old Fellow.
Cincinnati Enquirer: This is kind to animals we'll, and the Democrats ought to quit pulling in all directions trying to dismember their poor old "mewl."

The Shipping Garter.
Cleveland Plain Dealer: London reports that the latest novelty in women's wear is a garter worn on the instep. That's where men's garters are worn in this country as soon as the rubber begins to weaken.

Attention, Soaks.
Topeka Capital: It's a pity that old soaks instead of turning to Jamaica ginger, vanilla extract and horse colic medicine don't naturally take to sauerkraut juice, which the doctors are now beginning to speak so highly of.

It Will All Right.
Montgomery Advertiser: With Oscar Underwood going to Houston as an alternate member of the Alabama delegation, there will be catty remarks here and there about the tail wagging the dog.

Corks Don't Cork.
Indianapolis News: Spanish cork workers objecting to the decreased demand for corks might come to the United States and work for a wet law that will enable the people to get rid of liquor that dissolves anything but a glass stopper.

Look Out!
Detroit News: A Pittsburgh woman has offered to sell herself for $15,000, the money to be used in paying her mother's debts. In the friendliest sort of way we suggest to any prospective purchaser that it might be well to inquire who was responsible for her mother's debts.

The Spotlight

By JOHN J. DALY

Leon Friedman, who has been helping Flo Ziegfeld glorify the American girl these many years, comes into town now ahead of "Rio Rita," the celebrated musical comedy that ran 64 weeks on Broadway at the Majestic Theater. It is one of the few Ziegfeld pieces that failed to have its premiere in Washington. Two years ago the newspaper fraternity here—at least that portion of it given to chronicling theater happenings—went over to Baltimore to see this magnum opus on its trial night. After all that time, there has been not one change in the original cast. Walter Catlett takes the place of the little comedian, Robert Woolsey, no kin, of course, to the celebrated cardinal. Conscientious to a degree and with this change in mind, Mr. Friedman, the well-known publicity man and space grabber, says he hesitated to use the term, "Original New York Cast." Nevertheless, "Rio Rita" will be seen here when egg-rolling comes into its own again on the White House lawn—Easter Monday.

Any time L. Stoddard Taylor finds the management of a theater irksome all he needs to do is equip himself with a series of travel pictures and step out on the lecture platform, emulating the example of Fred Niblo, E. M. Newman and the venerable Burton Holmes. By way of paying the way, should such a contingency arise, Mr. Taylor on the morrow will assume the role of toastmaster at the dinner to be given in honor of the star of "The Squall," the festivities at the Women's City Club just before the night performance.

Revels being what they are—very popular now in the public mind—Lionel Atwill is getting ready to bring back "The Outsider," a play that had its premiere here in Polli's Theater, with Ann Davis in the lead distaff role. Afterward, in New York, Katherine Cornell displaced Miss Davis. In the revival, headed for the Eastertide, Mary Newcombe is named as the actress to play the crippled girl.

Dwight Taylor, artist-son of Laurette Taylor, of "Peg o' My Heart" fame, has written a play—"Phyllis Feels Frightened"—which will be produced next fall, probably under the banner of Brady, Wimbans and Turk.

Some time ago William A. Brady unfolded on the stage of the Belasco a play called "A Free Soul." 'Twas a dramatization of a novel from the pen of Adela Rogers St. John, a lady novelist, whose last name, by the by, is pronounced as if it were spelled Sin-gin, or, as old Dr. Frank Morse, the veteran play physician, puts it, "like your favorite drink and what it leads to—if you get the idea." Anyway, when the play was here the local scribes and pharisees suggested a change of title. The petition was ignored. The play-book title has stood during the twelve weeks' run in New York, where Bill Brady plays the leading role. Now, according to George Christie, the actor who plays a part in it, there is speculation as to what this department thought should be the name of the play. He writes: "The ladies of the troupe have always been very curious as to what title you selected, and never published, for the play. They have urged me to write and ask if you will not tell, now that there is no possibility of it being used. I am curious myself. Well, here goes and with the approval of Dr. Morse, who still believes—Mr. Brady to the contrary notwithstanding—that this is the proper title: 'The Defense Resists.'"

Steve Cochran, manager of the National Theater, is not given much to superlatives, but once in a while he lets loose a broadside. One of his favorites on the stage is Fred Stone. Ever since the days he stood on a beer box, or perhaps it was a soap box, to sell tickets at the E street box office window, Mr. Cochran recalls the antics of Fred Stone, labeling them par excellence. For the new Fred Stone show, "Crisis-Cross," coming next week, certain rearrangements of the National stage must be made, which require the services of a corps of carpenters. The remodeling is being done to accommodate new effects employed by the venerable comedian. Why? Listen to Mr. Cochran: "Fred can beat Will Rogers as a lariat thrower. As a dancer, he has George M. Cohan lashed to the mast. He can outbox Gene Tunney, outbat Babe Ruth, and outpreach Billy Sunday, that is, if he ever went in for all these various callings." After this, the wonderment is: What are they doing with the stage of the National, building a puppet, a prize ring, a baseball diamond, or merely laying a new dance floor? Ask Mr. Cochran.

Concert to Aid Opera.

A concert will be given in the ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel on Monday, April 23, at 9 p. m., the proceeds of which will go into the producing fund of the Washington National Opera plans for next season. Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, wife of the Speaker of the House, heads the committee of prominent women in charge.

Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, Mrs. Frederick C. Hicks and Mrs. Walter Tuckerman also are among the sponsors. Paul Alt-house, American tenor, who won such success in the international opera festival in February, and Rosa Low, American soprano, who won much applause as Musetta in "La Boheme" here last season, have donated their services for the concert because of the importance of the work of the Washington National Opera to the young singers of the Nation. Further details of the arrangements for the concert will be discussed at a meeting of the committee in the home of Mrs. Hicks, 1302 Eighteenth street, at 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

IS YOUR BOY AS GOOD AS YOUR GIRL?

A Bit of News.
I tell you, mother, this thing has got to stop! I told Bill that he could have the use of the airplane two nights a week, but he is back by half past 11, and here it is nearly 1 o'clock and I am sitting up, tired as I am, waiting for that plane to come home.

"Now when I was a boy we were expected to be in by 10 o'clock with our own automobile. Of course, I know that while I didn't get back on time, but at least I was on the ground and I wasn't going more than 50 miles an hour and I never went more than 100 or 200 miles away from home on any one night's trip. Things have come to a pretty pass when children have to be waiting all over the place at all hours of the day and night."

"Well, father, young people will be young people and we must be prepared to accept the new conditions. Things are not what they were when we were boys and girls. The only thing I worry about is that Bill will get into bad company some night when he is on one of these planes and get hold of some Martian High Life or go over to that Venusian cabaret. They say that the women on Venus are wild, and you know how different standards or morals than on this earth of ours."

"I know what we can do, mother! We will make the first payment on a television set and then we can just sit in the parlor and keep our eye on Bill. They say you can't only see just what he is doing in the airplane, but you can also hear the conversation through a newly invented attachment."

"Yes, father, I know we had better get one, but I haven't much faith in it because I understand that the company has just gotten out other attachments by which Bill's words can be scrambled all up before they get to us. All Bill has to do is start a little device which will turn his love talk into laughs and whistles. He may be, for instance, whispering sweet love words to Daisy and all we would get out of it would be leonine and hollow roars. Of course, you know, Bill is no fool and he would know enough in last summer's vacation to buy one of those interference wave systems whereby he can change the television waves in such a way as to break up any possible view you might get of what he was doing in the plane."

"Well, mother, Bill might at least have sent us a note tonight by the radiophone system telling us that he was delayed because he was out of gas or that one of his spare plugs had blown out, or asking permission to stay a little longer because the rest of the party did not want to break up as early as he did.

"Now when I was a boy—"
"Yes, father, when we were young how much better things were!"
If you were a parent of 1938 who has trials in handling their sons and daughters may be assured that these same youths still get all sorts of things coming to them when they too have parental responsibilities in 1938.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER.
Readers' Stories.
At night I generally read for 15 minutes to my 3 and 4 year old youngsters. I read them fairy stories and please name some books suitable for their years.

DEVOTED MOTHER.
Answer—I have just the helpmate you want, "Books for Children Two to Five Years of Age," and "Shall We Read Fairy Stories to Toddlers." Any reader have them under request accompanied by a S. A. S. E.

The Last Straw.
The college year is only half gone and my son has drained me of all my spare funds. His last letter read: "Send me some money, I'm broke." What shall I do?
Answer—Write the reply: "So your old man," and send it collect.

Quarrelling.
My two children quarrel. I am the only one in the house. Are children naturally jealous?

MOTHER.
Answer—No. A child may grow to have a brother or sister who either receives or seems to receive more attention. Often parents instinctively show favoritism. The younger child gets for good reasons more attention than the older. We have to be careful, children get strange ideas—this one for example:
The sweet little thing had a violent tussle with her particular chum. Her mother reprimanded her and concluded by saying: "It was Daddy who suggested that you pull Jenny's hair."
"I shouldn't be surprised," the child replied musingly. "But," she added promptly, "kicking her in the ships was entirely my own idea."

BIG EVENTS ON LIST IN MINIATURE PLANE CONTEST THIS WEEK

First Will Be Indoor Tractor Display at Macfarland School Saturday.

SECRETARY OF LEAGUE AND CHAMPIONS COMING

Blick Donates Use of Arcadia Auditorium; Rules for Trips to Detroit.

Two big events are listed for contestants in the District of Columbia miniature aircraft tournament within the next week. The first is the contest for indoor tractors, to be held at the Macfarland Junior High School Saturday night. The second will be the appearance of Merrill Hamburg, secretary of the Airplane Model League of America, with the three champion model airplane builders at the Arcadia Monday afternoon.

John S. Blick, proprietor of Arcadia, is generously donating the use of the big convention hall.

"I feel that the youth of the land should be encouraged in the highly laudable study of airplane design and construction," said Mr. Blick.

Mr. Blick's Opinion.

"We know that the boys of today are the builders of tomorrow. Possibly we have another Lindbergh or Chamberlain among the boys of our city. Perhaps one of them will achieve greater fame than these two. At any rate I will be glad to have them use the Arcadia Monday for their demonstration."

The contest at Macfarland School Saturday night will be one of the series being conducted by the District of Columbia miniature aircraft tournament committee, of which Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, U. S. A., retired, and former head of the Army Air Service, is chairman.

It will be open to the boys of the city and the indoor tractors built by members of the Airplane Model League of America from kits supplied by The Washington Post, are eligible.

Incidentally, the trip of Mr. Hamburg and the three national champions to Washington has been arranged by The Washington Post, authorized headquarters for the Airplane Model League of America in Washington.

Must Be Members.

The league is sponsoring another championship meeting in Detroit in June to which contestants in the District of Columbia Miniature Aircraft Tournament are eligible. The Washington Post will send three boys to this tournament, the three to be selected in the contests held by the miniature aircraft tournament committee here.

While membership in any club or league is not necessary in order to qualify for the Miniature Aircraft Tournament, boys competing for the Detroit trips must be members of the A. M. L. A., membership in which is free.

Have you been to the Columbia Theater this week?

If you have, you have noticed the lobby decorations of miniature airplanes made by the A. M. L. A. boys of the city. They are very effective and have attracted much attention.

It is getting close to the time when the big events will be held, so if you haven't joined the A. M. L. A. yet, now is a good time to sign the coupon.
